NAZIS ROUTED NORTHWEST OF STALINGRAD

Situation At Volga Steel City Remains Critical Soviets Say

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Soviet headquarters reported today that Red armies, surging down upon the German left flank, had defeated two Nazi divisions along the flaming 40-mile corridor between the Don and Volga rivers, while inside Stalingrad the crisis remained acute.

A bulletin from German field headquarters said a new section of northern Stalingrad had been taken by storm.

Despite staggering losses, the Germans continued to throw great masses of troops into the 37-day-old assault, and the army newspaper Red Star declared gravely:

"Conditions in the city remain serious. The Germans have big losses, but the attacks do not lessen and violence grows."

Nevertheless, the Russians still displayed no sign of collapse after withstanding more than five weeks of violent assault. And as September ended, confidence rose in both Soviet and British quarters in London that the Red armies had blighted Hitler's two most cherished aims of 1942:

1. A new onslaught against Moscow.

2. Conquest of Russia's rich Tiflis-Baku oil region.

Soviet war news, published by the Russian embassy in London, declared that after "having lost several dozen picked divisions, squandered several thousand tanks and planes and strewn every captured mile with their own dead, the Germans have failed to achieve victory."

Soviet gunners were reported to have slaughtered more than 1,500 Germans yesterday as the invaders launched repeated, futile attacks to widen a wedge in Stalingrad's northwest section.

"The enemy suffered particularly heavy losses in trying to capture one height," the Russian command said. "In this battle, the enemy lost over 700 men."

Red Star said the Germans, fearing sudden night attacks, were sending rockets flaring through the skies and floating down by parachutes to light the battle scene.

Dry grass blazed across the steppes northwest of the city, shrouding the countryside with a pall of yellow, acrid smoke.

Only the sparse details were forthcoming on street fighting inside the Volga metropolis, with Red army headquarters announcing merely that "our troops fought fierce engagements against enemy tanks and motorized infantry... a guard mortar unit commanded by Nikitin wiped out 800 Hitlerites."

Nor did the Soviet command divulge more than the bare announcement that two German divisions had been routed by relentless attacks on the north bank, where Marshal Semen Timoshenko has been hacking at the Nazi "barrier" guarding the main German siege armies.

STATE POLICE TO ENFORCE SPEED LIMIT

Officers Directed by Commissioner to Arrest Motorists Driving Over 35 Miles an Hour

TO PUNISH OFFENDERS

Harrisburg, Sept. 30.—(P)—Commissioner Lynn G. Adams today ordered the state police to enforce Governor James' war-proclaimed 35-mile-an-hour speed limit for automobiles in Pennsylvania to save gasoline and tires "the same way they did the 50 mile limit."

"We don't expect any difficulties in carrying out this order," Col. Adams said. "People should enjoy traveling more slowly for patriotic, economic and safety reasons."

The governor brought Pennsylvania into line with a federal order by the Office of Defense Transportation establishing a nationwide speed limit of 35 miles, effective tomorrow, through issuing a proclamation invoking the reckless driving provisions of the state motor code to lower the former speed limit of 50 miles an hour.

The proclamation provided fines of $10 to $25 and suspension of licenses for violators.

Where people do not obey the new speed limit, Col. Adams said, the state police will make every effort to punish offenders to the full extent of the law.

Pointing out that the 35-mile speed limit "should accomplish what the nation is after," Col. Adams added that in addition to "thousands of lives will be saved."

"Establishment of a 35-mile speed limit and prosecution and punishment thereunder," the proclamation said, "will affect only such motorists as conspicuously place their selfish interests and convenience ahead of a patriotic and obviously necessary program called for by President Roosevelt, since all those who have this country's best interest at heart will support it."

HOTEL WORKERS VOTE AGAINST A STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30.—(P)—The AFL Hotel & Restaurant Employees International Alliance announced today an "overwhelming majority" of 2,000 members employed in the city's eight leading hotels voted against striking to support their demands for a 20 per cent pay increase.

Instead, the dispute with the management will be referred to the War Labor Board, John Kenney, president of Local 237, announced. The hotels have contended they cannot increase their payrolls because OPA price ceilings prevent increasing charges to guests.

In going along with the revised Barkley proposal, the farm bloc surrendered an advantage it gained yesterday when it forced insertion into the bill of a provision requiring the recalculation of present party standards upward to include farm labor costs.

The woman was strangled by an electric cord during the absence of an attendant, John Huber, 50, and Mike Ingagliato, 19, had rescued her from the river after she plunged in from a bridge.

DRAGGED FROM RIVER GIRL HANGS HERSELF

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30.—(P)—Prevented from taking her life by two men, who dragged her from the icy waters of the Allegheny river, Veronica Renkiewicz, 30, hanged herself a few hours later in Allegheny general hospital last night, the coroner's office reported.

The woman was strangled by an electric cord during the absence of an attendant, John Huber, 50, and Mike Ingagliato, 19, had rescued her from the river after she plunged in from a bridge.

Scrap Iron Most Vital Material, Weir States

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30.—(P)—"The people in Washington" have failed to realize scrap iron is the most vitally important war material in the world today, Ernest T. Weir, president of the National Steel Corporation, fifth largest producer of the industry, believes.

"Shortage of steel scrap is the most serious question confronting us in the successful prosecution of this war," Weir said in an interview, adding,

"Unless we can greatly stimulate the flow of scrap, over what is coming out now, I predict we are going to have a severe loss in steel production this winter."

Long Silence Is Broken By Nazi Leader

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel Is In Galaxy of Officials to Hear Hitler

MAKES NEW PROMISES

Berlin (From German Broadcasts), Sept. 30.—(P)—Adolf Hitler told his people today that "we believe that we shall continue to defeat our enemies until final victory is ours."

He assured the German nation that Stalingrad is bound to fall. Hitler's address, his customary winter relief campaign speech to the Nazi party, was made in the packed Sportpalast and broke a five-months silence.

(On the same occasion last Oct. 4 Hitler told the Nazis that "now it can be declared that the enemy already is broken and will never rise again.")

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was in the galaxy of top Nazi leaders in the huge sports arena to hear Hitler.

Surprised by his return from North Africa, the crowd earlier had greeted him with tumultuous cheers and Hitler emphasized Rommel's presence by stopping on the way to the speaker's stand to shake the desert general's hand.

Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, and Propaganda Minister Goebbels, who prefaced Hitler's own winter relief appeal with a plea for generosity, faced the crowd alongside the leader.

SCRAPPING OF FLAG POLES IS OPPOSED

McKeesport, Sept. 30.—(P)—A proposal to scrap half a dozen steel flagpoles in the city's playgrounds brought a plea from A. G. Trimble, vice president of the American Flag Day Association to "keep Old Glory flying."

"If there is any one thing we Americans should do, it is to keep Old Glory flying," he wrote Mayor J. Frank Buchanan and council.

Council, which voted Monday to scrap 40 steel park benches, tabled until Thursday the proposal to scrap the flagpoles.

Mother Denies Abandonment

New York, Sept. 30.—(P)—A young mother shouted in police lineup today denials that she had abandoned her six-year-old daughter who for nine days was called "Little Miss Mystery" because she could not speak to identify herself after being found in Grand Central Station.

The mother, Mrs. Ruth Miller Gootkin, 22, and her father, Charles R. Miller, 50, both of New Haven, were arrested last night after Mrs. Gootkin had visited little Gertrude Louise in Bellevue hospital where the child was taken after being found bewildered in the station.

Mrs. Gootkin and Miller were arraigned in felony court later on charges of acting in concert to abandon the child. Magistrate Edward C. Maguire fixed Friday for further hearing and set bail of $750 for Miller, Mrs. Gootkin was paroled in the custody of her attorney, James D. C. Murray.

O'CONNOR CO. NOW FLYING AN 'E' FLAG

Group of Men Representing Under Secretaries of Army and Navy Participate in Ceremonies

OUTSTANDING GUESTS

Today over the plant of the O'Connor Machine Company at Sheffield there flies in defiance of the Axis the Army-Navy Flag bearing the "E" of excellence showing the company and its employees are doing their part in winning of the war.

The flag was presented to the company and men Tuesday when the Army and Navy sent a group of men representing the Under Secretaries of the Army and Navy to Sheffield to honor the group whose work has won meritorious attention.

The ceremonies took place at the plant which had been decorated for the occasion in traditional Red, White and Blue. Bleacher seats had been erected for spectators, a special group of seats had been reserved for the workmen who made the award possible and a platform put in place whereon the notable group of national, state and county officials assembled.

The O'Connor Machine Company is not an old company. Formed in 1918 it had some small part in World War I and during the years intervening between World War I and World War 2 it grew slowly but steadily. Its group of buildings has been added to and recently a new office building was erected and additions made to the plant.

Founded by Joseph O'Connor and with his wife, son and daughter all aiding in the care of the business it occupied an inconspicuous place in the community. With the thunders of war over the land Mr. O'Connor inspired by patriotic motive contacted government officials to see "what we can do."

Finding he can make parts of an essential machine of the battles he went to work. His men gave 100% cooperation and the product flowed out of the plant until its record showed that it was an outstanding gear in the machine of victory. Hence the award of Tuesday.

UP IN SUPREME COURT

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30.—(P)—Constitutionality of a 1941 state law providing civil service for policemen in boroughs and first class townships having three or more full-time police officers was challenged in two cases before the state supreme court today.

Council for Haverford township, Delaware county, argued the law creating a civil service commission of three members was a violation of Article III of the state constitution. The statute undertook to classify townships by the number of police they had and not by population, Attorney Robert T. McCracken told the court.

The statute is "reasonable and just," counsel for township Police Superintendent Samuel Segle and township's police argued.

MANSLAUGHTER TRIAL OPENS AT TOWANDA

Towanda, Sept. 30.—(P)—Paul Montgomery, 24, was called before Justice V. L. Genell today on charges of voluntary and involuntary manslaughter in the death of Juanita Johnson, 16, who he said leaped from his automobile on a country road.

A coroner's jury yesterday ruled that Miss Johnson died of a skull fracture "the cause of which is unknown."

Montgomery, also charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, was quoted by State Policeman John Harkovich as saying the girl "took the wrong meaning" and jumped when he turned into a country road while driving her home.

The college trustees announced yesterday the bells will be donated to the salvage campaign. One, weighing 600 pounds, in the belfry of the administration building. The other, slightly smaller, is in Hanna Hall, original college structure.

Nation's Traffic Toll Has Record-Breaking Reduction

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(P)—Fewer lives were lost in traffic accidents in the United States last month than in any August on record, the National Safety Council reported today.

Fatalities dropped 40 per cent below the same month a year ago, and the total of 2,310 was lower than in any August as far back as 1926, the earliest year for which national monthly totals are available.

The council said the reduction represented a saving of 1,550 lives of this year dropped 21 per cent from the same period of 1941. The figures were 19,150 deaths against 24,170 last year.

ALLIES SEIZE HUGE AMOUNT OF EQUIPMENT

First Objective of New Pacific Offensive Claimed Captured By MacArthur

ADVANCE CONTINUING

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Sept. 30.—(P)—Allied mountain troops, sifting through the difficult jungle and mountain country of the Owen Stanley range, have captured the first objective of their New Guinea offensive, sent the Japanese into a hurried northward retreat and seized quantities of abandoned Japanese equipment, a communique said today.

Consolidating their positions on Ioribaiwa Ridge, which was retaken from the enemy, the Allied troops are pursuing the Japanese toward Nauro, ten miles north of the ridge, where the Japanese have established new defense positions.

With the conquest of Ioribaiwa Ridge, which the Japanese had prepared for defense with barricades and field trenches, the Allies have successfully started the difficult and perilous task of driving the enemy back over the 85-mile trail to Buna along which he advanced to threaten the Allied advance base at Port Moresby.

"Our advance continues," General MacArthur's communique said.

It was expected that strong resistance would be encountered near Nauro village and the creek at the base of the next mountain ridge north of Ioribaiwa.

Allied bombers pursued the retreating Japanese relentlessly, pounding their rear positions at Menari, four miles north of Nauro.

At the same time heavy bombers moved down the trail to Buna and destroyed six barges used to transport supplies down the coast. Other enemy installations on the beach and airdrome also were attacked.

Another Allied air unit struck at Salamaua, large Japanese base up the New Guinea coast from Buna, bombing the airfield, fuel dumps and barracks. Results of the attack could not be observed, the communique said.

Garrett Will Trial Reopens

BY ROBERT M. HOFFMAN
Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—(P)—A world-wide army of "heirs"—26,000 of them—snapped to attention today and orphans court began shaking another family tree to find the rightful owner of the estate of a slain soldier.

Henry Schaefer Garrett, who once drew a will but neglected to dispose of $17,000,000.

Hearings were resumed where they left off last June 26, when the claim of the late Herman A. Kretschmar of Otawille, Ill., and the estate of Howard S. Kretschmar of Chicago was being presented. Like thousands of others, the Kretschmars said they were Mrs. Garrett's first cousins.

During the recess scores of new claimants have joined the 26,000 in 46 states and 29 foreign countries who assert kinship to Mrs. Garrett. Testimony has been taken intermittently for six years; the records have grown to 162 volumes and 3,500 exhibits, but thousands remain to be questioned and the end is nowhere in sight.

CHURCHILL REPORTS ON DIEPPE RAID

Prime Minister Tells House of Commons Losses Were Nearly Half of Total Troops Involved

FOILED BY BARRIERS

London, Sept. 30.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that the Allied losses at Dieppe were "very nearly half the total" of the troops involved.

Churchill said that British tanks were held up by the "altogether unexpected strength" of defense blocks placed at the ends of Dieppe's streets by the Germans.

It had not been anticipated, he added, that the barriers could not be destroyed by British guns.

The house passed the bill by a vote of 215 to nine, prolonging the life of the house for the third time since the outset of the war. The bill provided that the Northern Ireland parliament also might be continued if a resolution to that effect were passed by the Ulster House.

Making a statement in response to questions, Churchill said the military force commander at Dieppe had described the support given by the RAF for the operations there as "faultless."

The RAF fought the greatest air battle of all times over the coastal town, destroying nearly 100 German planes for certain and possibly bringing down many more, Churchill said.

James Henderson Stewart asked the prime minister to reconcile his announcement of Sept. 5 that (Turn to Page Nine)

Rubber Boots, Shoes Frozen

Washington, Sept. 30.—(P)—Stocks of rubber boots and rubber work shoes were frozen today by the War Production Board until Oct. 5 when they will be sold on certificate only to workers essential to the war or to public health and safety.

Announcing the order, WPB explained that ordinary rubbers, arctics, gaiters and women's and children's rubber boots, mostly made from reclaimed rubber, will not be rationed at this time.

The order, the government's first affecting rationing of clothing, resulted from a mounting demand from industrial and agricultural workers for six types of rubber boots and rubber work shoes requiring a high content of crude rubber.

London, Sept. 30.—(P)—Twenty boys and two teachers, including Miss Charlotte Marshall, 27-year-old head mistress, were known dead and rescue workers looked on today in the belief others might be buried in the debris of a boys' school in southern England which was wrecked yesterday by a heavy German bomb. Eighteen other boys were reported missing as the rescue work continued.

Teachers Elect Delegates To State Meet

At the first business meeting of the Warren Borough Teachers' Association, Miss Margery Lloyd was elected as delegate to the Harrisburg convention in December with Miss Guinevere Knapp as alternate delegate.

Mr. Rossman advised the group that, due to the rubber and gasoline situation, an opportunity will be given them to express their wish regarding attendance at the convention of the Northwestern District of the P. S. E. A. at Erie in October.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Dr. Hilding Bengtson of the Warren State Hospital Staff gave an interesting address on "Morale." He defined morale as living efficiently, regardless of the strain and stress of living, and good morale as a state of mind brought about by mental hygiene. Dr. Bengtson stated that an individual is susceptible to suggestion, an important factor in creating morale, and loses his personality when he becomes part of a crowd swayed by emotion, affirmation, repetition, and contagion. Physical well-being and proper nutrition are our best defense against poor morale. Dr. Bengtson concluded his address by giving some of the factors of poor morale and their antidotes. Our best defense against fear is action, against fatigue, proper rest; freedom of speech and thought are the cure for our antagonisms and honesty is the enemy of wishful thinking.

Post, released today, also asserted that "fighters based on Oahu aerodromes missed their big chance" during the Pearl Harbor attack.

The navy "erred" at Pearl Harbor, he added, "in presenting so many targets in such small space, under the tense conditions prevailing in early December."

The former commander of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, now a member of the navy's policy-making general board, made the statements in what the Post called "an appraisal of our mistakes and our virtues."

He said the Japanese had to conquer Luzon as the first step toward Java because it was the strongest island in the Philippines and "the Japs could not leave this power unimpaired on their flanks."

"This was the place and the time to have beaten our enemy in the air," he wrote.

Discussing the Pearl Harbor attack, he said:

"X x x it is to be expected that the supposedly best defensive weapon, the fighter plane, will interfere with such an attack and at least punish it severely. The fighters which were based on Oahu's aerodromes missed their big chance x x x"

Hart also wrote that American submarines are inflicting heavy losses on the Japanese in the Pacific, both on merchant and fighting ships, and commented, "not so much can be said about x x x it."

AUXILIARY POLICE MET

Warren's Auxiliary Police set up under the OCD by Chief of Police George Haehn held a meeting of the advanced group last evening in the High School. Fingerprinting was the topic before the class and all were fingerprinted. Instruction in first aid by John Allen and Abe Martin followed and some splendid cooperation was evidenced. The Junior Class will meet this evening also in the High School. In all about 90 men are enrolled in the auxiliary police. Among the number are 25 men from the surrounding towns.

VISITED IN CITY

Bob Post, of ETNA, advance man for the Republican candidates who are touring the state spent yesterday in Warren. While here he checked on arrangements for the visit of the party here Friday when Gen. Edward Martin, candidate for governor on the Republican ticket will speak at the Y. W. C. A. County chairman Jesse Smith has arranged for a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. at which all who desire may meet the Republican candidates. Luncheon will be served. In addition to General Martin, others in the party will be John C. Bell, candidate for Lieut. Governor, William S. Livengood and others.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Officers of Kossuth Encampment No. 98 were installed last Thursday evening by District Deputy Ralph Summerton, of Irvine. There was a large attendance of the members and following the meeting supper was served at the McCabe Restaurant. Officers installed were as follows: Chief patriarch, Raymond Bower; high priest, E. A. Gilson; senior warden, Carl Thelin; junior warden, Clare Carlson; scribe, W. C. Filzle; treasurer, H. J. Sandblade; guide, James Cable; first watch, H. O. Barrett; second watch, Ralph Wilkins; third watch, G. F. Lauffenberger; fourth watch, Ray Farnsworth; guards of the tent, Frank Witz and A. Roger Olson; inside sentinel, Leo Bushey; outside sentinel, F. W. Lauffenberger.

PRIORITIES EXPERT BUSY

Yesterday was another busy day in the office of the Chamber of Commerce where W. C. Frogale, priorities expert from the War Production Board, counseled with a considerable number of representatives of industry, not only of Warren but of points in the county, including Tidioute, Garland, and Youngsville. This service, which was instituted last Tuesday by the Chamber of Commerce, is one that is evidently very desirable, judging by the number of callers. Mr. Frogale has had on both his visits to Warren. Arrangements have been made with the War Production Board to have Mr. Frogale spend next Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce. It is suggested that those who desire to consult Mr. Frogale next Tuesday make arrangements in advance by calling the Chamber of Commerce, phone 470. While this is not essential, it will help avoid congestion.

In 1766 Rhode Island enacted laws "for the preservation of the oyster" to keep coastal beds from being scraped bare.

Would Halt All Football

Harrisburg, Sept. 30—(AP)—Richard J. Beamish, Pennsylvania Public Utility Commissioner, and former college and professional football player, today declared gridiron sports should be abandoned in wartime and replaced by "basic military training for all students."

Asserting the sport was "silly" during the war and "ersatz" in that it gave too few a chance to play and too many only an opportunity to sit and cheer, Beamish said:

"Football coaches should be fired for the duration of this emergency and their places filled by marines or other military instructors."

He made the statements as he prepared an order for the Public Utility Commission which would restrict taxicabs, bus companies and railroads from adding equipment to carry the public to weekend sports events and other "pleasure assemblages."

MARTIN

Beaver Falls, Sept. 30—(AP)—Adjutant General Edward Martin, Republican nominee for governor, continued his campaign into western Pennsylvania today with attacks upon the Democratic administration's conduct of the war.

"McNutt told a senate committee conscription of labor is necessary because persuasion is not enough, and there is not sufficient patriotic urge," declared the pre-war commander of the state's National Guard.

"That is an insulting thing to say about the workers of America. I say they are more patriotic than the workers of any nation on earth. I say we must do anything and everything to win this war—but I cannot and will not believe any statement inferring our workers are lacking in patriotic urge will help to win it."

"I believe such loose, irresponsible statements tend to lower their patriotic urge."

Martin urged party followers at a reception yesterday in Pittsburgh to "beware of overconfidence" that the Republicans will sweep to victory in the November election.

Pupils Get Deer Hunting Permit Again

An adjourned meeting of the school board was held last evening at the High School at which action was taken on a number of important matters. Receipts from the State Department of $18,622.87 and $5,950 were reported and the latter amount is for the purchase of machinery and equipment for the school machine shops.

The War Production Board has granted a priority order on the material for repairing the Russell Field fence and this will soon be accomplished.

Dr. W. J. Sedwick was continued as dental clinician.

It was announced that in conjunction with the State College Extension Courses a review and special training course in mechanics, radio and electrical training will be set up. Enrollments can be made at the High School October 15 and 16 by those interested. Special attention will be given to those to be inducted into the armed services for which the course is primarily designed.

Superintendent John G. Rossman was empowered to make a search for "scrap" throughout the various buildings and grounds to become a part of the school program on October 5th.

The annual grant of one day for hunting of deer was given provided the students have their parents' consent and a hunting license.

It was also reported that 70 youths have enrolled in the auxiliary forest fire fighting group under the Department of Forests and Waters and that all have obtained the approval of their parents for the work.

An expenditure of $912.08 for the purchase of text books was approved.

Those present at the meeting were President W. F. Clinger, Mohr, Patterson, Keller, Brasington, Mackay, Solicitor Eaton and Clerk Miss Atkins with Superintendent John Rossman.

IDLE DOWN TO 35!

Down in Harrisburg some of the state officials were all in a dither over the question as to whether or not a 35-mile speed limit may be enforced in Pennsylvania without changing the present regulations.

In these hectic war times when the best interests of the nation and every individual citizen would be conserved with a 35-limit throughout the country, there was no cause to quibble about the question of enforcement.

Under a proclamation issued by Governor James last evening the state is brought into line with President Roosevelt's request for a 35-mile limit. The state executive invoked reckless driving provisions of the vehicle code to lower the former speed limit of 50 miles and to provide fines of $10 to $25 and license suspensions for violators.

Section 1002 of the motor code, which James interpreted as permitting him to lower the speed limit, says: "Any person driving a vehicle on a highway shall drive the same at a careful and prudent speed, not greater than or less than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the conditions then and there existing."

A Washington dispatch declares that state officials tomorrow will begin to enforce the new 35-mile-an-hour nationwide speed limit ordered as one step in conserving America's greatest rubber stockpile—the tires and 27,000,000 passenger cars.

Director Joseph B. Eastman, of the Office of Defense Transportation, prescribed a maximum penalty for violators of the speed limit of two year's imprisonment, a $10,000 fine, or both. At the same time an ODT spokesman said the agency turned over the enforcement problem to state officials because it would be "next to impossible" to undertake a federal program.

All vehicles except those operated by common carriers in scheduled regular route service will be subject to the new speed law Thursday and thereafter. The speed of those in the exempted group—trucks and buses operated over regular routes and on regular schedules—will be controlled as of October 15th.

The proclamation provides that the new limit be continued "for the duration of the present emergency, unless further modified by my proclamation or by action of the general assembly." Idle down to 35 miles an hour and keep it there. If you see cars go around you they'll probably be some of those birds who have not yet purchased one of those federal stamps!

NOTEWORTHY PROJECT

The Auxiliary of the V. F. W. is doing a nice bit of community work in holding Wednesday night series of games in the post rooms to raise money for men in the service. More important, however, is that this same fund will provide service flags for all homes in the community desiring them. There are no strings attached to this offer. Any person desiring a flag may secure one by applying at headquarters, 238 Pennsylvania avenue, west, any afternoon this week, give the name of the boy in service and receive the emblem free. Through this method it is the hope of V. F. W. officials that every home in town that has a man in the service will be displaying a flag soon.

Our congratulations to William Muir, well known Warren citizen who is to be honored at a testimonial dinner this evening on the occasion of his birthday anniversary when he will be presented with a 70-year jewel by the Warren Lodge of Odd Fellows, marking an occasion seldom duplicated in the state of Pennsylvania.

Warren county's goal of 500 tons of Scrap fell considerably short, but we still feel it is to be had if citizens will dig it out and deliver it to the Salvage Committee. Bring on your junk to scrap the Japs!

An important day in the lives of some seventy Warren county men who are in Erie today for physical examinations!

Lot of Card rooters around Warren in spite of the 5 to 9 odds on the Yanks to win the series.

"Who S-says My Government Is Sh-Shaky?"

Washington In Wartime

(Second In A Series)
By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — There probably isn't a person who will read these lines who doesn't know of one or more hardship cases as a result of the man of the house being off to the war but never has any nation in any major struggle tried so hard to avoid them.

In the first place, Selective Service has delayed (and still is delaying) the induction of men with families and dependents. Some have already been called; others will be called soon. But it is doubtful if any nation has ever put an Army of more than 4,000,000 men in training in ten months of total war and held injustices to the family to such a minimum.

In the second place, Congress, through the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act and other measures, has taken considerable precautions to see that the hardship cases are kept from actual want.

FOR the purposes of the act, dependents are divided into Class A, a wife and child or children; Class B, parents, brothers, sisters and grandchildren who are all or in part dependent upon the enlisted man. Every man in the service in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades (a new selective is normally rated seventh grade) has to contribute $22 allotment from his monthly pay to Class A dependents. Whether he does so to Class B dependents is voluntary. In the case of contributions to dependents in both classes, the allotment may amount to $27.

To this the government adds an allowance of varying amounts determined by the degree of dependency, so that monthly checks from the government varying from $27 for a partially dependent brother, sister or grandchild, to more than $100 in some instances, keep the soldier's family from dire want.

IN ADDITION, widows, children and parents of men killed in World War II or in extra-hazardous service before we entered the war, may apply for and receive pensions ranging from $20 to $133. Dependents of a man who dies in service also receive six months' pay of his rank.

There are provisions for burial allowances and for interment in Arlington National Cemetery. Wives of veterans buried in Arlington may be interred in the same grave.

Thus, from induction of a serviceman to a period beyond his discharge or years beyond his death, the government seeks to give his family some economic protection.

SOMETIMES the people dominated the pavements for a block. . . . If you were in a hurry, it was best to walk in the street. . . . the crowds spilled over into the shooting galleries, where the flea circuses carried on with their never-failing audience of gapers, and the short order restaurants, where you can get a meal of beans and sausage and bread for fifteen cents.

You can walk from 59th street to 42d street and find less than a third of the people on 6th that were there, say, six months ago. They aren't in the secondhand

Solomon Islands Battle Theater

Naval, air and land fighting goes on in the southern Solomons as the Japs make continued attempts to wrest back the islands seized by U. S. forces. Center of activity has been Guadalcanal Island, where U. S. Marines still fight Japs, and the surrounding waters, scenes of many air-sea clashes resulting in losses for both sides.

Will Teach Glider Flying

Glider pilot courses for training civilian pilots will be instituted by the Warren Public Schools in conjunction with the King Air Service at the Warren Airport as set up by the Board of School Directors at its adjourned meeting last evening. The training course will go into effect on October 26, 1942. Many details have yet to be worked out. The course will be open to men between the ages of 18 and 36 who can pass the screen tests together with the physical and mental examinations. 22 individuals will be accepted as the number to be enrolled in the first course. A much larger number of applicants is anticipated. Individuals who have passed the examination will be listed as Reserves in the Armed Service and will attend this training course for a period of eight weeks. During that time they will receive no pay, will be regularly inducted into the Reserve Forces, and will be uniformed. Upon the successful completion of this eight weeks glider course they go elsewhere for a three months training on the basis of a private. If this three months course is successfully completed they are promoted to staff sergeant. The School District of Warren Borough has been requested to inaugurate this program in connection with the King Air Service by Leroy C. Weiland, District Flight Supervisor, Civilian Training, of the Civil Aeronautics Administration with headquarters at the Allegheny County Airport, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. It will be a matter of a week or ten days before applications will be received. The contract of the Board of School Directors if finally authorized in Washington requires the local School District to lodge, feed and transport these trainees but at the expense of the Federal Government. The School authorities have asked that no inquiries be made until further publicity. Everybody Reads the Times-Mirror

O'Connor Co. Now Flying An "E" Flag

Guests for the occasion assembled at the plant during the morning and at 11:30 left in automobiles for the Sheffield Rod and Gun Club Clubhouse where luncheon was served. George Seavy was in charge of this portion of the entertainment and he and his aides did a thorough job of caring for the wants of the visitors serving a most delicious hot lunch. Following this Allan Gibson introduced Lt. Col. L. A. McQuown, who spoke briefly. He was followed by John Siggins, Jr., Secretary of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, Secretary Mark James, of the Department of Commerce and personal representative of the Governor of Pennsylvania, Arthur S. James; Judge Allison Wade, State Senator L. E. Chapman, Assemblyman W. W. Murphree, Commissioner P. C. Ostergarde, Commissioner William Olney and J. M. Lyons, District Attorney Joseph Goldstein, Burgess Raymond Steber, of Warren, W. W. Beaty, Ed. Johnson, P. J. Kennedy and others.

Leaving the club house way was made to Sheffield where the Sheffield High School Band and Lincoln School Patrol met, the caravan and escorted it to the O'Connor plant.

At 1:45 the program opened and was broadcast over WJTN and an Olean station. The Star Spangled Banner was played as the U. S. Flag rose to the top of the staff and as the last notes died away the wind caught the folds of the flag and flew it to the breeze. The Color Guard of the American Legion flew the flag.

The Master of Ceremonies gave a brief sketch of Sheffield and its peoples paying a tribute to the efforts of all in the World War. John Cochran of Sheffield presided on the platform and introduced Dr. Robert L. Taylor who extended a welcome in behalf of the citizens of the community to the distinguished visitors.

Lt. Col. McQuown followed presenting the award to the O'Connor Machine Company. Col. McQuown spoke at some length and pointed out that as we have "not even made a dent in the Axis lines. Our victories are still in the future xxx Things haven't gone too well with us and it isn't that our forces haven't got what it takes to whip the Axis. They are capable and show raw courage being equal to anyone. But they need help from home—help that comes from the factories—help in the form of tanks, guns and planes. After all grim determination and bravery are not enough in themselves to stand against the mechanized forces of the enemy. x x x We in America are inclined to think in terms of the bigness of things. We are much impressed by the mammoth steel and electric corporations and all too often are prone to overlook small organizations such as yours. Actually the importance of a company depends on the effort which is put into production by that company's employees and the management to produce both quantity and quality.

"We in Pittsburgh know about you and Mr. O'Connor. Probably at times Sheffield has seemed a long way from the fighting, at times you may have thought that no one cared much whether you produced or not because fighting an unseen enemy is sometimes more difficult than confronting his face. When you feel like that come out and take a good look at this Army-Navy Production Flag. It is the symbol of a good job, well done. That you for your help so far and here's a challenge for the next six months. You men and women in the O'Connor Machine Company help us give the material of modern warfare and we of the Army and Navy will use it to crush the enemy. That's a promise."

The beautiful flag was placed in the arms of Mrs. Joseph O'Connor and unfolded so that all could see and then Joseph O'Connor, Jr., and Jack McAvoy carried the banner to the flag pole where it was hoisted to its place beneath the stars and stripes. An incidentally under the award flag flew the Minute Man Flag who further evidenced the patriotism of the men and women of the company.

While the flag was being hoisted to place the Lincoln School patrol gave a fanfare on the bugles and drums.

The award was accepted by Joseph O'Connor, Sr., who spoke briefly as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, Representatives of the Army and Navy, and guests:

We are proud of the honor bestowed on us and we are grateful to the Army and Navy for recognizing the efforts these men have put forth. I can say that our government has received 100% cooperation from this crew. Never has there been any dissent. Day and night their attitude to me has been, "Get us the machine tools, put the jigs and fixtures on them, pile the material in front of us, get out of our way and we will do the work, and do our best to supply our fighting men with equipment not only to keep that flag flying, but to give those Japs and Hitlerites a most beautiful trimming. I thank you."

Major G. H. Knode, of the U. S. Army then presented to the employees of the company the pin which the winning of the award of excellence by their efforts entitles them to wear. Major Knode pointed out that the pin is really a medal of honor by hard work and that it should be worn with pride and preserved with care. The pins were accepted by Miss Patricia O'Connor, secretary of the Company and Rudolph E. Samuelson, shop foreman and Harold Thomas Sanford, also a shop foreman. Every employee of the plant was given a pin and they proudly affixed them to their work shirts. The men knocked off work only long enough for the ceremonies and at their conclusion went back to bench and lathe inspired to do even better work in the future.

Jack McAvoy, first employee of the O'Connor Company accepted the award in behalf of the management.

All America Knows Budweiser... but Few Know This

THEY'VE PASSED THEIR 'PHYSICAL'-TOO

America's feathered and four-legged armies are very much on their toes these days. Yeast vitamins used in fortifying animal feeds have done wonders in recent years to better the quality and propagation of livestock and poultry. Did you know that the Home of Budweiser is America's biggest single source of these vitamins?

Year after year, we have striven with research and resources to better the methods and facilities for brewing Budweiser. To do this, a laboratory specializing in fermentation and nutrition was necessary. Discoveries made in the laboratory and in the plant have led to the development of products contributing to human necessity and progress. Some of these products would appear to have only a remote relationship to brewing, yet, they are the result of scientific research into many allied fields.

Endless research in making the world's leading beer has led to other products

VITAMINS, B COMPLEX—for manufacturers of pharmaceutical and food products. Our plant is one of the world's largest sources.

VITAMIN D—Anheuser-Busch produces enough of the basic material for Vitamin D to supply the entire American market.

BAKER'S YEAST—We are one of America's biggest suppliers of standard and enriched yeasts and malt syrup used to make bread.

CORN SYRUP—many millions of pounds annually for America's candy industry.

SYRUPS—for food, table and confectionery uses and special syrups for medicinal purposes.

STARCH—for food, textile, paper and other industries—millions of pounds annually.

REFRIGERATING EQUIPMENT—for retailers of frozen foods and ice cream the country over. This division is now working all-out on glider wing and fuselage assemblies for our Armed Forces.

DIESEL ENGINES—Adolphus Busch, founder of Anheuser-Busch, acquired the first rights to manufacture this revolutionary engine in America and thus started our great Diesel industry on its way.

ment and men. Jack was captain of the O'Connor Basketball team last year. He spoke briefly of the honor he and his fellow employees felt in receiving the award and promised in behalf of the employees of the company continued efforts in quality and quantity of production.

With the singing of "America" by the Sheffield High School Girls Glee Club accompanied by the Sheffield High School Band the ceremonies ended.

A feature of the day was the presence of the young musicians of the Sheffield Schools under the direction of Miss Peterson, musical director and their uniforms, the majorettes in white, the red and white of the Lincoln Patrol all added to the picture.

Impressive in its simplicity, patriotic in every motif the Army-Navy Award to the O'Connor Machine Company gave every participant and spectator an added life to their patriotic impulses and a determination to stand 100% behind the men at the front.

Air Ambulance

A new, light ambulance plane, now operating with the Ohio Wing of the Civil Air Patrol, is one of the latest developments in mercy aviation. Photo taken during recent working demonstration of plane at Hicksville, Long Island, shows "patient" being transferred from air ambulance to a motor one. Demonstration involved plane's landing on narrow country road in isolated community and removing "victim" of simulated accident.

The ambulance plane, designed and built by Aerona Aircraft at Middletown, Ohio, is especially adapted for emergency work in the many remote and otherwise inaccessible sections of the United States where hospital facilities are inadequate or non-existent. Such planes may play a vital role in the removal of sick and injured during times of disaster—flood, fire, hurricane—when all surface transportation has been disrupted or wiped out.

The low landing speed of this and similar light aircraft, and the surprisingly small area they require for landing and taking off, make them ideal for this type of emergency work.

Old Stagers Predict Bitterest World Series on Record

Few Experts Conceding The Yanks Will Win Easy Victory In Classic Starting Today

BY GAYLE TALBOT
St. Louis, Sept. 30—(A.P.)—It was Mott Cooper, peerless 22-year-old Cardinals pitcher, who predicted the Cardinals would win eventually, few predicted it would be an easy victory.

The Cardinals have too much class for that. Those who have been following Billy Southworth's braves as they made their sensational stretch drive to beat out the Brooklyn Dodgers declaring unanimously that they are capable of beating anybody—including the Yankees. Those who have seen the most of the Cards lately are highest in praise of the wild-running kids, and are the ones who like their chances the best against the resplendent Yankees. Which might, or might not, be significant.

There was, to tell the truth, an agreeable surprise in St. Louis last night when the word arrived, in advance of the Yankees themselves, that Ruffing had been named by Manager Joe McCarthy to hurl the first game for the Yanks. The American League champs did not pull into town until nearly dark—too late for a workout—but the word that Ruffing was McCarthy's choice arrived by telegraph some hours earlier.

Sportingly Speaking

(This column is written today by Joe Gardner)

It is human to err—so with that in mind here goes to a few predictions of things to come during the World Series of 1942—by all the signs, omens, etc., Cooper should not pitch the opening game against the Yanks, for many reasons, first of all it seems to us that the second game is the most important of any seven game series—The first being just a nice get-together for sizing up each other's strength and weaknesses. So we predict that Johnny Beazley the rookie-23 year old pitching sensation will start in the first game—and all things being equal win this game for the Cards.

The Red Birds have always been a club to admire—complete disdain for the opposition—and do or die competitive spirit. Remember Pepper Martin, the Deans and a host of others—all of whom bring back fond memories. And last of all the Yanks are due to crack apart anytime now so why not during this series—boy am I out on a limb.

Not wishing to bring back sad memories, however—do you remember that dropped third strike by Owen during the 1941 series—well that was the crest of the Brooklyn's tidal wave to attack and hold the baseball citadel for years to come—that third strike was comparable to and just as important as winning the battle of Gettysburg would have been to the south. If the Bums had won almost anything could have happened and due to that error or accident they have become just another National League club and we predict that they will never again for years to come finish on top of the National heap.

All of which brings us to the question whether or not baseball will be shelved for the duration. The Sunset League had a very successful season—And it is our prediction that baseball will still be with us another year—If for no other reason than to keep civilian morale up. A good many of the present stars will probably be in the armed services but with their ability to draw from the farm systems the big leagues could function through 1943—even if in a less sensational manner. Note the successes of the Pony League.

Our prediction as to the winner of Friday's nocturnal engagement between the Dragons and the Oil City Kitties is Warren Hill—by at least two touchdowns. But don't misunderstand, a prediction never wins a football game and our boys will have to go at top speed with no let downs to keep on the victory side of the ledger.

Oil City Is Bolstering For Game With Dragons Friday

(Oil City Derrick)

In an effort to bolster the Oilers' terminal trouble so evident in the Bradford game last Friday, Coach Joe Connors has, shifted Ralph (Gunner) Gates from full-back to an end position.

The change was made at yesterday's practice session as the Blue and White squad started drilling for the tussle here Friday night with the Warren Dragons.

With Gates moved to his new position, Captain Jack Schantz has been placed at fullback and Jack Greenawalt, 120-pound sophomore, given Schantz's signal-calling duties at quarter-back.

Disgusted with the work of his ends in the loss to the Owls last week, Coach Connors also worked out yesterday on downfield blocking pointing out that Eddie Weaver would have scored last Friday night in the second quarter if a teammate had thrown a decent block at the safety man.

In the long gridiron rivalry between Oil City and Warren (which dates back to 1914 (one of the oldest in northwestern Pennsylvania)) the Dragons have captured 15 victories, the Oilers 11 and two games have ended in ties.

The locals have lost the last three years to Warren and in the last ten seasons have won only three games. In the all-time scoring the Dragons have chalked up 415 points to 304 for the Oilers.

The scores:

McCarthy Is Exhibiting No Worry Signs

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

St. Louis, Sept. 30—(A.P.)—Joseph Vincent McCarthy, kindly 56-year-old manager of the New York Yankees, leads his players into the World Series against the St. Louis Cardinals with supreme confidence—and a memory.

Last team to conquer the Yankees in a World Series was the Cardinals of 1926, who had an outfielder named Billy Southworth, now the 49-year-old manager of the current Cardinals.

But if McCarthy is letting the memory bother him, he's keeping strictly to himself.

World Series tension and excitement is nothing new to him. He's won six and has been on both sides of the fence, having piloted the 1929 Chicago Cubs, who lost four out of five to the Philadelphia Athletics. When the Bronx bombers smothered the Brooklyn Dodgers last year it was the seventh championship club managed by McCarthy—the sixth to a world's championship.

St. Louis fans loyal to the Cardinals are furious over their inability to get world series tickets except through scalpers. They are combarding newspapers with letters and telephone calls, explaining the Cardinals' policy, Sam Bronckon, president of the club, said approximately 17,000 seats were available to the general public.

Potatoes were first discovered by white men in Colombia, South America in 1538.

Prophetic Picture of World Series Club Managers

Yankees' Manager Joe McCarthy, left, and Cardinals' Manager Billy Southworth look like they are having a pre-world series powwow. Actually the picture was made the last time their clubs met, in an exhibition game earlier this year.

A Promise for Tomorrow

Chapter 13
The Valley Of Death

JULIE reached the hospital just as the ambulance driver and an orderly were wheeling a stretcher through the door. She caught up with them in the wide, cool hallway just inside.

"Pete," she said softly.

The dark head on the pillow turned slightly. He opened his eyes, recognized her, managed a little half-smile. "Hello, Sissy."

Then the eyes filled with pain again. He closed them.

Her heart weeping, Julie's voice was steady, her eyes clear as she said, "We won't let it hurt long, Steve. And she took the big hand that lay inert on the sheet, held it a moment.

She couldn't be sure he'd heard, or that she hadn't imagined the answering pressure of his cold fingers. But she was sure that Pete was hurt seriously.

Dr. Tom confirmed her judgment a little later. Scrubbed immaculate in sterile linen, Julie met her father outside the X-ray room. The instant she met the concern in his gray eyes, she knew.

"What is it, Dad?"

"No bones broken. He was thrown into the water. But even shock and chill don't account for pain in his head and back. He looked at her steadily a moment.

"You think it's—"

"She couldn't bear to say aloud.

"Wrenched that weak back somehow in falling. Pain is from pressure on nerves. He tapped the X-ray pictures he still held. "Nothing in the pictures to show where it is."

A name leapt out of Julie's subconscious and she spoke it aloud almost before she realized it. "Call Dr. LeMoine. The Belgian surgeon, remember? He'd know."

Dr. Tom shrugged. "He's a big man. Doubt if he'd come this far. Besides, operation might not do any good."

"But it's a chance, Dad?"

"Sure—a long chance."

"I'll call him, then," and turning she ran back to the office, spoke rapidly to the switchboard operator.

It took eternities for the call to go through. Dr. LeMoine was reached at his club. He would be at Santa Felice General by eight o'clock in the morning. Before that, it would be impossible.

Julie had to be satisfied with that. She raced back along the corridor to the room where two nurses were settling Pete for the night. Dr. Tom followed her a moment later.

Vigil
"HE'S running a temperature. If pneumonia sets in now, I'm afraid he won't have much chance."

"It won't," Julie said grimly as it girding herself for a fight. "I'll stay with him."

Julie kept vigil at Pete's bedside all through the long, quiet hours before daylight. Promptly at eight, the slight, absolutely bald Dr. LeMoine arrived, brusque, irritable, brushing aside all preliminaries. Julie's heart sank as she took her place beside her father, watched the world-famous surgeon make swift examination of a dull-eyed Pete only just conscious of what was going on.

"There is a chance," the great doctor said finally, turning to Dr. Tom. "If the patient has courage and the will to recover, it is just possible an operation would be a complete success. It is also possible," he shrugged, a typically Gallic gesture of futility, "—to fail."

Pete's head turned on the table. "Take the chance, doc." Then his eyes found Julie's. "Tell him, Sissy."

Pete was in the operating room nearly four hours. Four hours of the most medieval torture for Julie.

When it was over, she stood by while they wheeled Pete out, an ashen-faced caricature of the real Pete.

"We have done all that we can," Dr. LeMoine said curtly. "The operation was a complete success. If the patient recovers, he will walk again quite normally."

"If the patient recovers," the words echoed hollowly against Julie's growing fear. For forty-eight hours he was kept under opiates. Hours in which Julie went about her duties, present in mind, but absent in heart. She slept and ate and cared for her patients and lived from one visit to the darkened room at the end of the hospital corridor, to another.

When at last Pete was conscious, it was Julie who found him so. Returning from a late call, Julie stopped at the hospital. The special nurse was on duty, silently handed Julie the chart where Pete's ebbing vitality was marked only too plainly. Pulse slow. Blood pressure down below normal. dangerously.

Julie moved to the bedside, took Pete's hand in hers. Leaning over him, she pressed her own warm cheek against his as if to share with him some of her own full-blooded strength.

"Pete," she whispered, "Pete, darling, come back. Try to come back, please Pete."

Success
THEN, as if in response to her stirred, a little slowly the eyes opened, looked up into hers. Moments of blankness before recognition. Then, just a flicker before the lids dropped again.

Behind her, Julie heard the nurse slip away, close the door softly. For a long time, only the faint night sounds of the hospital came into the room. Then, amazingly, Julie was sure he'd spoken her name.

She stood up, leaned closer.

"Julie," so faint a whisper she barely caught it.

"Yes, Pete," quietly, calmly. "Don't go."

"I shan't, dear. I'll be right here for as long as you want me. Rest now."

"No. Can't," and turned his head ever so slightly. Then pain lanced across his face. "Oh, God!"

He slipped away from her again back into unconsciousness. Alarm took grapping hold of Julie. If he let go of consciousness now, some part of her trained mind decided, it might be fatal. This was pushing back—away from the struggle to live.

"Pete!" she called softly.

No response.

"Pete! Listen to me. You must." Slowly, he opened his eyes.

"Pete—fight. Understand! You're going to be well again. You're cured. You can walk again. But you must fight for it!"

His eyes glazed with pain, met hers steadily a moment. "No use. Rather be dead. Awful—pain—head."

And drew back toward unconsciousness again.

Once more she pulled him back by the sound of her voice. "Listen. You must fight, Pete." And then, recklessly, "Please, darling I love you. I won't lose you now. Please, try. For my sake."

At first he seemed not to hear. Still, he seemed to struggle for consciousness, so Julie took heart. Pleading her voice reached out to him, the only means by which she could penetrate the thick curtain of pain that shut him into a hideous world of his own.

Dr. Tom came in twice. The special night nurse returned to her vigil. Julie scarcely heard them. But when at daylight, her father took her arm, drew her gently away from the bedside, said quietly,

"You've done it, Julie. He's sleeping normally now. He'll pull through."

She turned, then, buried her face against her father's broad shoulder—wept quietly.

TIMES TOPICS

KALEFES MEETING

There will be a meeting of all members of the Kalfus Rod and Gun Club at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the clubhouse.

GRIS WERE VISITING

It has been learned that the two Warren girls reported missing in an item in Tuesday's paper, Ruth Robison and Margie Gustafson, had not run away from their homes here as stated, but were visiting at the home of the mother of the latter in Custer City, from which place they returned yesterday.

BODY OF SALESMAN IS FOUND BOUND TO TREE

Salem, N. J., Sept. 30.—(P)—Ira Norris, 35, was charged yesterday with the murder of Samuel M. Hagenburger of Elmer, a house-to-house salesman whose body was found bound to a tree in a wooded tract in Alloway township Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff Hubert Layton said Salem County detective Albert Peacock filed the formal charge against the resident of lower Alloway Creek township who had led state police to Hagenburger's body, contending two men attacked him Saturday night and that he subdued one and tied him to a tree.

FRANKLIN LAWYER DIES IN HIS ROOM

Franklin, Sept. 30.—(P)—A messenger boy bringing ice cream for Maurice P. Breene, 47, prominent lawyer and twice district attorney of Venango county, found him dead late yesterday in a bedroom adjoining his office.

Coroner P. E. Cunningham said a heart condition apparently caused death. The attorney had been ill for several days.

Breene was a newspaper reporter in Erie before beginning the practice of law. He hailed up his shingle first in Oklahoma, coming here later. The widow, two sons and a brother survive.

Situation at Volga Steel City Remains Critical Soviets Say

 such secrecy that they were not allowed to smoke were reported to have cut through the "line of the fuhrer" above Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow, in an attack launched after a barrage by hundreds of guns.

Pravda dispatches said the Russians, fighting in autumn-colored woods where red and yellow leaves mingled with the green of firs, drove the Germans into retreat and reached a curve on the upper Volga.

Far to the South, in the Caucasus, strong Red army forces were reported to have stemmed a series of attacks by reinforced German columns seeking to break down through the Terek valley toward the Grozny oil fields.

 had hasten that happy day when our boys will come back home.

Rep. Jed Johnson of Oklahoma, head of the speakers' bureau of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, meanwhile told reporters: "We're hopeful of getting back at least as many members as we now have. Perhaps we can pick up a seat or two."

"I don't think there's the remotest possibility of a turnover which would give the Republicans a majority in the house."

Final Action On Bill Noted On Exchange

New York, Sept. 30.—(P)—Stocks gave up a little ground today as the market awaited final action of congress on the administration's anti-inflation bill.

For a time in the early proceedings a fair number of leaders held small gains but many of these were erased before the fourth hour by light selling. A few specialties were in demand at higher prices.

A bit soft most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical and Homestake mining.

Laclede Gas Preferred pushed up about 5 points at the best while the common backed off a point or so. Receiving support were American Airlines and Good-year.

Bonds and commodities were steady.

Churchill Reports On Dieppe Raid

 most of the Dieppe force returned and the official Canadian statement that of 5,000 Canadians participating there were 3,350 casualties, including 2,817 killed or missing.

"In my statement of Sept. 2," Churchill answered, "I was referring to the assaulting forces as a whole, the greater part of whom were in fact, brought back by the Royal Navy."

"There is no inconsistency in this with the statement of the Canadian minister of national defense who was referring only to casualties among Canadian troops who took part."

(In his earlier reference to "the assaulting forces as a whole," Churchill presumably included naval forces as well as all land forces besides the Canadians in the storming of the Dieppe beach.)

Churchill told the house that the government of northern Ireland was satisfied that the situation created by Irish Republican army outbreaks was "well in hand."

Some of the disturbance has taken the form of IRA protests against the presence of United States troops in northern Ireland.

Long Silence Is Broken By Nazi Leader

 Long cheers hailed Hitler's arrival at 6:45 p. m. (12:46 p. m. EWT), just eleven minutes before he started speaking.

The cheers turned to laughter when Goebbels, who had denied any rift within Nazi ranks or deaths of Nazi leaders, turned to Hitler and remarked on his joy at seeing the fuhrer "so hale and hearty."

The Berlin radio commented that this was "an obvious reference to rumors abroad"—presumably rumors that Hitler was ill.

Hitler declared that if the British try again to invade Europe, no matter where, "they can deem themselves lucky if they stay for nine hours on the continent, as at Dieppe, for we have made thorough preparations to welcome them."

The Germans have persisted in the theory that the big commando raid on Dieppe last Aug. 19 was an actual invasion attempt.

"We are determined to hold this year what we have and to attack where we believe it to be necessary," Hitler went on.

CRAF STUDENT BALES OUT NEAR NEW CASTLE

New Castle, Sept. 30.—(P)—A Canadian Roy Air Force student flier parachuted to safety from his plane early today five miles from this western Pennsylvania city after he became lost in a fog.

The flier, Aubrey Treigles, 20, told state motor police he had taken off last night from an Ontario airport and that he decided to parachute from the plane when he was unable to establish his location. His supply of gasoline was nearly exhausted.

Narrowly missing high tension wires, Treigles landed on a highway and walked to a nearby home where he telephoned state police. His plane crashed near the spot where he landed.

WIFE OF PRESIDENT OF U. S. STEEL IS DEAD

Massillon, O., Sept. 30.—(P)—Mrs. Benjamin F. Fairless, who married her childhood sweetheart and watched him rise to the presidency of U. S. Steel Corp., died at their home here last night.

Mrs. Fairless, the former Jane Truby, was born in Indiana about 51 years ago and at an early age moved with her parents to a farm at nearby Justus.

"Nip" Hulings Likes the Army

From Venice, Fla., comes the following communication, written by Sgt. Merrill "Nip" Hulings, formerly of Irvine and now with a service squadron at the municipal airport at that place:

"Upon entering the Air Corps in January, 1940, I have been stationed at Langley Field, Virginia; Lowrey Field, Denver, Colo., where I attended the Air Corps School of Administration; over two years at MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla.; six weeks at Sarasota air base, and am now stationed at a newly opened field at Venice, Fla.

"For the two years and ten months in the service I have been working in some phase of office work, although I have had some armament experience, and found it the most interesting work so far, but the old saying in the army is that once a clerk or a cook, you will always be one or the other, so I have remained a clerk and have to like it.

"Of the hundreds of boys I have become acquainted with in the army, I have only seen two boys from around Warren. Where in the world are they all being sent? I had the pleasure of seeing Robert McDonald of Warren while at MacDill Field and also David Dunn from Sheffield. If any of my friends read this and find they are near Venice, Fla., I hope they

Dinner Feature of Church Anniversary Celebration

A capacity crowd of over 250 persons attended the birthday dinner at the First Presbyterian church last night held in honor of the 120th birthday of the local institution.

Several well arranged musical selections, all enthusiastically received, were interspersed with short talks and messages of congratulations from friends of the church. The evening's program was in charge of Franklin R. Hoff and Donald E. McGinnis, the latter acting as toastmaster.

Rev. J. H. Cruickshank, pastor of the North Warren Presbyterian church gave the invocation. Dr. Thomas E. Colley, president of the Warren County Ministerial Association brought greetings from his organization and from the other denominations of Warren. Dr. Colley, after reviewing the humble beginning of the parish, paid tribute to the hand-full of men and women who organized the church and went on to point out the responsibilities that are yet to face the congregation in the years ahead.

A brief history of the church during its past 120 years was given by Tracy M. Greenlund, a long time member. At times serious, at times witty, Mr. Greenlund said that the story of the first 60 years was taken from church records but that his remarks of the last 60 years came from personal observation and experience. He covered the record established by each pastor, told of the various church buildings occupied by the congregation, pointed out that the church had survived six wars in which this country has taken part and paid public tribute to the early founders. He told many personal anecdotes, some humorous and some serious, all of which enlivened his talk and proved of great interest to all who listened.

One of the highlights of the evening's program was the recognition of the member present who had belonged for the longest number of years. This proved to be Mr. James W. Kitchen, 313 East street, who joined the church in 1875. Mr. Kitchen cut the birthday cake that adorned the speakers' table and received a book from Harold C. Warren, in the name of the entire membership. Mr. Kitchen's response was apt and timely and received much applause.

Two other meetings, part of the 120th anniversary, which will be held this week were brought to the attention of those present. Harold S. Hampson invited all members to be in attendance at the one to be held at the church this evening, in honor of the missionary efforts of the church. He stated that Rev. Paul H. Merkle and Rev. Allan F. Vinton, former members of the church, would be present to speak of their work in local mission fields and that other appropriate speakers would be on hand to tell of the church's activities in line of missionary work. Mr. Harold Banghart told of the meeting to be held on Friday evening of this week at which time the young people will have charge of the program; a pageant will be given, musical numbers provided and all phases of young peoples work will be discussed. Mr. Banghart emphasized that though this meeting is in charge of the young people, members of all ages are invited to be present and enjoy the program. A committee of the Married Couples Club will serve refreshments at the close of Friday's meeting.

Several splendid musical numbers and selections were heard during the course of the evening. The Melody Men, a quartette comprising James Shortt, Norman Shoaff, Richard Dietrich and Harold Knappenberg sang. A number of attractive violin solos were given by James Shortt and Miss Vera Swanson, of Jamestown, N. Y., was heard in several excellent soprano solos. They were all accompanied by Miss Meredith Young.

Harold C. Warren, present pastor of the church, read a warm and friendly letter from Dr. Thomas C. Dickson, of York, Pa., a former pastor in which he held of the friendships established during his stay in Warren and in which he paid compliments to the work in which the local church is engaged. Mr. Warren also thanked
